GUILD NEWS + EVENTS

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Art Guild is Growing

In the last few months there have been a lot of changes and growth within the Art Guild. We have been offered several opportunities to participate in local events.

Our SubClubs, are growing in scope and participants. The exhibition we held at Red Cliff Gallery attracted about 200 entries - more than what we anticipated when we first planned the event. The quality of the exhibits were high and reflected the wide scope of interests and skills of our members.

St George City invited the Arts Alliance group - of which we are a founding member - to participate in an event "Dinner on Main" as part of the Dixie Days Celebration - a huge success last year. This year, they closed Main St between St George Blvd and Tabernacle and invited us to display some art as part of the Alliance. The invite was last-minute, but I am grateful to our members who volunteered to help at short notice. Some members did art demonstrations in the restaurants and others helped with art displays by setting up and being available to help during the event. If it proves to be popular, they propose to hold the event again. Next year, we will have more time to plan the event so everything will run smoother.

Sam Barber,
*President
with the Art Guild's
Silver Award*

The Guild is looking for a Treasurer and a Secretary to serve on our board. This is a volunteer position and would require attending four meetings a year. The Treasurer should have some financial experience and would be working with our independent CPA and our CFO. The Secretary would have oversight of the Guild's document process to ensure we are complying with Federal and State regulations. Neither of the two positions require the candidates to be artists.

Artist of the Month of October

Laura Keller

Born and raised in Utah, I lived in the Southern Utah area, part-time, for over 2 decades before moving to St George as a full-time resident. For me, Southern Utah is a plethora of beauty and color - a fiesta for the soul with its outdoor wonders. We gather so much insight from our beautiful surroundings - and a resilient inner peace that I believe is a rare gift. The inspiration our surroundings provide is an artist's dream come true, and I've utilized every opportunity to bask in the delights we have at our fingertips.

I started my art journey with a vivid imagination and a natural love for color and light. Starting with color theory and design, I gravitated naturally to the beautiful world of color through acrylic and oil painting. As time passed my talents grew, as did my desire for advanced techniques, and the adventures in front of me of exploring upcycled substrates and 3-D mosaic glass art. The brilliant colors, depth, and shimmering light led me to my destination in glass. I was immediately smitten with the diversity mosaic art provides, and the wide range of possibilities with trinkets galore to accomplish beautiful pieces of art.

I am an outdoor enthusiast, avid reader, mother and grandmother. Being able to create and bring beauty and joy to those around me is truly the most gracious gift one could receive.

Urban Sketchers SubClub

Saturday, October 27 @ 10:30am
@ Red Hills Desert Gardens
375 Red Hills Pkwy in St. George

Red Hills Desert Gardens are magnificent beautifully designed areas of drought tolerant plants. Late October they add “scarecrows” that are designed and installed by various groups. We are asked to be mindful to not block pathways; the gardens may be busy. Bring your own chair, although there may be some open benches or tables under the scattered pergolas. Grateful for Ryan at the Washington County Water Conservancy District for access.

Upcoming: St. George Town Square (Nov),
 and Western Sky Aviation Warbird Museum (Jan)

Oil Painting with Marilyn Rose

Marilyn is offering a four-week class in oil painting, covering the lessons that form the foundation of her ongoing weekly class. Color mixing, creating form and depth with values, design and composition and expressive brush and knife work are the main focus of the exercises and mindful practice that benefit oil painters of all levels.

Long-time and newer students have remarked on how this training has benefited their progress and increased their creativity and enjoyment of the painting process.

There is currently a waiting list for Marilyn's weekly class, so this short course will prepare students for when space opens up. It's also a good basis for any class or online painting course.
